New world order: end of the multipolar world

As geopolitical tensions rise and global alliances shift, the stability of the multipolar world is increasingly in doubt, giving way to a more fragmented international landscape. This panel will explore how economic security concerns and supply chain realignments are reshaping global trade and investment, with direct implications for Europe's family businesses. It will also examine how these businesses can adapt to uncertainty, manage risk and remain competitive in a rapidly evolving world order.

Speakers

- MEP Nicolás Pascual de la Parte, European People's Party
- Philipp Lausberg, Sr Policy Analyst at European Policy Centre

Single Market 2.0: The Path to Completion

Despite its successes, the European Single Market remains incomplete, with persistent internal barriers continuing to limit its full potential and that of cross-border business activity. The inefficiencies of the single market have led to increased fragmentation. This, in turn, has led a recent report by the International Monetary Fund to claim that internal market barriers in the EU are equivalent to a 44% tariff on goods and 110% tariff on services. This panel will focus on some of the barriers and examine the concrete actions needed to deepen the integration and improve the functioning of the Single Market.

Speakers

- MEP Jonás Fernández, Group of the Progressive Alliance of Socialists and Democrats. Member of the Subcommittee on Tax Matters and of the Committee on Economic and Monetary Affairs
- Ingrid Faber, CEO of Faber Group B.V.
- Ben Butters, CEO of Eurochambres

14.15h

Securing Continuity: Business Transfers for Europe's long-term competitiveness

Securing business continuity across generations has never been more important. Over the next decade, a substantial share of Europe's businesses is expected to experience business transfers, making effective transfer frameworks a strategic priority. In light of the forthcoming update of the European Commission's 1994 Recommendation on business transfers, this panel offers a timely opportunity to examine the practical realities of passing a family business to the next generation, and to reflect on how policy and practice can better support successful transitions.

Speakers

- Ramón Alejandro, President of Saica Foundation
- MEP Vladimir Prebilič, Group of the Greens/European Free Alliance. Vice-Chair of the SME Intergroup
- Jesús Casado, Secretary General of European Family Businesses

European preference: Made In or With Europe?

Europe's industrial base faces mounting pressure, as highlighted by the Industrial Accelerator Act. Measures such as the "buy European" principle and the "Made in Europe" or "Made with Europe" signal a shift in how European products and supply chains are being seen. We will also assess the proposal for large foreign direct investments (FDIs) in strategic manufacturing sectors and the conditionalities pertaining to the ownership cap. This panel will explore what these developments mean in practice for family businesses.

Speakers

- Irene Tinagli, Member of the European Parliament, Socialists and Democrats*
- Kerstin Jorna, Director General for the Directorate-General for the Internal Market, Industry, Entrepreneurship and SMEs, European Commission
- Olivier Schiller, Chairman of the Board of Septodont

16.00 - 16.15

Closing Remarks

- Jan Kornelis van Oord, President of EFB
- Henna Virkkunen, Executive Vice-President for Technological Sovereignty, Security and Democracy*
